Hurley's Hat in Ring

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Governor Hurley today broke a long-established precedent by announcing his candidacy for re-election before prorogation of the legislature.

His announcement came within 24 hours after former Governor James M. Curley obtained nomination papers for another try at the office and in the wake of a statement by an aide to Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly in which the governor's hopes were ignored and prediction was made that Kelly would defeat Curley for the office.

Governor Hurley cited as a reason for his announcement:

"The events of the past few weeks have already demonstrated the stubbornness of the Republican leaders in their refusal to adopt any of my recommendations for the relief of unemployment.

"Therefore, in my opinion, the

28,000 See All-Star Nines Duel

CROSLEY FIELD, Cincinnati, July 6—American and National League All-Stars met here today before a capacity crowd of 28,000 in their sixth annual battle.

The American Leaguers, confident in the superiority they had displayed in four out of the five previous contests, were 8 to 5 favorites.

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, of the Yankees, winning pitcher in three previous All-Star games, took the mound for the Americans.

Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati's own no-hit, no-run hero, went to the box for the Nationals.

The National Leaguers were first to score on a hit by Hack, error by Cronin on Herman's grounder which allowed Hack to reach third and score on Medwick's fly to Averill.

Bystander Saves Boy Swimmer

A 13-year-old boy bather was saved from drowning at Magazine beach, Cambridge, today, when a bystander plunged fully clothed to his rescue, diving to the river bottom for the unconscious form.

The near victim was John Conway, 13, of Auburn street, Cambridge. He became exhausted as he attempted to swim to a float 50 feet off shore.

The boy's struggles were seen

Stocks Switch To Upswing

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — The stock market resumed its climb today and trading leaders pushed from 50 cents to around $2 a share higher following an extension of yesterday's reaction in the early dealings.

A new surge of buying appeared after late in the pivotal industrials and rails, in wake of a new upturn in leading commodities.

Early losses running to $2 were replaced with gains.

Speculative circles continued to exhibit a new-found optimism on the trade and industrial outlook, although the day's developments offered little tangible evidence of real change in underlying conditions.

Ogpu Prison Camps Claim More In Purge

4 Million to Flee

Refugees Wait Help

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—The names of Georgi Dimitrov, chief of the Communist International, and Jacob Davtyan, former Soviet ambassador to Poland, were added today to the growing list of Russian officials reported to have fallen victims to Dictator Stalin's newest "purge."

Dimitrov, director of the activities of Communists in scores of countries throughout the world, was rumored in Berlin to have been secretly arrested by the dreaded Soviet political police in Stalin's spreading drive against Bolshevik leaders he suspects of plotting to overthrow his regime.

Simultaneously, the London Daily Express said in an undated article that Davtyan, one of Russia's most brilliant diplomats who was mysteriously recalled from his Warsaw post recently, is reported to have committed suicide by poison in an OGPU (secret political police) prison in Moscow.

SPANISH AID CAUSE

A Warsaw dispatch to the London Daily Mirror said Dimitrov was reportedly arrested in his office, accused of "misleading Stalin regarding the civil war in Spain" and of spending too much money helping the Spanish government.

It was revealed, according to the dispatch, that two of Dimitrov's organizers of propaganda for abroad, named Kaniev and Popov, already have been executed by firing squads.

Stalin, it was added, will personally participate in an investigation by a special committee of the entire activities of the Communist International propagandists.

WIFE EXILED

Davtyan's wife, Madame Maksakova, famed opera singer who has enthralled audiences in nearly every European capital, was reported to have been exiled to Siberia, the Express says.

Davtyan was rumored to have taken his life, according to the article, after weeks of merciless grilling by the OGPU on charges that he conspired against the Soviet regime in alliance with followers of exiled Leon Trotzky.

The ambassador's former right-hand man in Warsaw, Serge Vinogradoff, also recalled to Moscow, was reported to have been banished to Siberia for 15 years.

Dimitrov, a Bulgarian, ranks second only to Stalin in leadership of the international Communist organization.

EVIAN - LES - BAINS, France, July 6 (AP)—An Austrian refugee leader told American delegates he believed 4,500,000 Austrians would flee Nazi rule if a 32-nation conference opening today could find them a new homeland.

Artur Rosenberg, representing the Federation of Austrian exiles at the meeting inspired by President Roosevelt to try to help German Jews and refugees, said about 75 per cent of Austrians would leave their country if allowed to take a substantial part of their property with them.

U. S. TAKES LEAD

The Austrian population in the 1934 census was 6,760,233. Various estimates put the number of Jews in Austria at the time of the Austro-German union at 200,000 to 300,000, and the total number of persons with some Jewish blood at 600,000—roughly ten per cent of the population.

The United States delegation headed by Myron C. Taylor, former head of the United States Steel Corporation, took the lead in preliminary negotiations for settling the refugee problem—made acute by the Austro-German union March 13.

Taylor gave a blunt warning that forced migration of political and racial groups can bring "catastrophic suffering" upon the world.

Addressing the opening session, Taylor said "general unrest and international strain" were unavoidable results of this migration.

NAMES GERMANY

He named only one country—Germany.

"I need not emphasize that discrimination and pressure against minority groups and disregard of elementary human life are contrary to the principles of what we have come to regard as accepted standards of civilization," the former head of the United States Steel Corporation declared.

Taylor outlined the scope of the conference as to take in all problems dealing with the "great bodies of reluctant migrants who must be absorbed in abnoral circumstances with a disregard of economic conditions and at a time of stress."

He declared forced migration of minorities a more disturbing practice even than dumping merchandise, the disruptive consequences of which are generally known.

He predicted "catastrophic human suffering" unless nations unite in an effort to halt this "anarchical" practice "by some governments."

The Americans made it plain, however, that the United States' attitude was one of helpfulness rather than direction.

Nazis Drive 800 More Jews to End Own Lives

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—The London Daily Telegraph in a Vienna dispatch said today there is "abundant evidence" to confirm reports current in the former Austrian capital that 800 additional Jewish men and women there have attempted suicide during the past few days.

The dispatch added:

Describing what it said was an overcrowding of Jewish cemeteries, the dispatch continued:

"On Saturday—a day in which under normal circumstances no Jewish funerals take place—rabbis were officiating continuously at burials. They could not finish their task before sunset."

The new wave of Jewish suicides, according to the Daily Telegraph's message, is a "sequel" to a recent order issued by Joseph Buerckel, Nazi commissioner for Austria, which demanded "immediate dismissal of all Jewish workers whether employed by 'Aryans' of by Jews."

Spain Warships Bombed in Raid

HENDAYE, France, July 6 (INS)—Spanish Insurgent airplanes operating out of the Balearic islands carried out a spectacular bombing raid on Cartagena June 17, the Rome newspaper Messagero reported in a Saragossa dispatch today.

The cruisers Libertad and Miguel de Cervantes and the destroyer Almirante Valdez were hit in the raid, the message said.

Chamberlain Delays Pact With Italy

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today refused to hasten the Anglo-Italian agreement into effect or even name a definite date for its coming into force.

He told the House of Commons he felt conditions for making the accord, signed in Rome, April 16, operative had not been fulfilled. These included "settlement" of the Spanish civil war.

Some progress in that direction was made today when Britain sent special messengers to capitals of both Spanish factions seeking approval of the European non-intervention committee's $13,750,000 plan for withdrawing alien troops from Spain.

Replying to a question by J. J. Davidson, Laborite, the prime minister said:

"His Majesty's government have repeatedly said they were not in a position to give full effect to the agreement until certain conditions have been fulfilled.

"At the same time, as I stated here, June 22, His Majesty's government are anxious to see the agreement brought into force at the earliest date possible consistent with fulfillment of the above-mentioned conditions."

Kin Get 25 Million Estate

SALEM, July 6—An estate unofficially estimated at $25,000,000 was bequeathed to members of the immediate family of the late Maurice J. Curran of Andover in Curran's will, filed for probate in Essex County court here today.

Curran was vice-president and a principal stockholder of the Gillette Safety Razor company and was a director of at least seven Massachusetts banks.

The story of his rise from poverty to fortune was like an Horatio Alger story.

BORN IN IRELAND

He came to Palmer from Ireland as a penniless immigrant boy. In early life, he was a grocery clerk and a wool sorter in a textile mill.

His savings, invested in a bottling company, then in a liquor business and finally in the Gillette firm made him one of New England's most wealthy men.

He died June 26 at the age of 83.

Only public bequests in the will were two of $5000 each. These were to Lawrence General Hospital and to the Protectory of Mary Immaculate.

MANSION TO WIDOW

The Curran mansion, "Croft," an Andover show place, was left to the widow, Mrs. Abigail F. Curran.

She was also left one-third of the estate.

The remaining two-thirds was left to Curran's sons and daughters, Maurice, Jr., Joseph F., Mrs. Mary T. Murphy, Mrs. Ledwine C. Falvey, and Miss Margaret Curran.

'No Time to Die,' Says Rabbi Wise

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, energetic 64-year-old leader of the American Zionist movement, arrived from Detroit today with a cheerful denial of reports that he had died aboard the train.

"I never had less time for dying," he said, "than now."

Shirley Waits Boston Visit

Shirley Temple, darling of the screen, will give Boston a firsthand view of her million-dollar personality in the very near future, it was announced today.

With her parents in New York on a delayed rest tour, the vivacious little miss who has captured America's heart let it be known there is nothing that quite holds her interest as much as Massachusetts' historic spots.

She wants to see Concord and Lexington and the Old North Church and a lot of other things, but most of all she wants to travel the same path that Paul Revere took on his famous ride.

Following the Boston visit, Shirley and her parents will travel to Montreal, Quebec and Toronto. From Toronto she will make a side trip to visit the quintuplets.

Asks $40,000 Love Balm

Mrs. Alice Cooper Bailey of Weston, socially prominent author of books for young people and children, was named defendant today in a $20,000 alienation of affections suit brought by her son-in-law, John K. Lawlor of Winchester.

A similar suit was brought by Lawlor against Mrs. Bailey's husband, George W. Bailey, wealthy Harvard alumnus and noted radio experimenter.

In both suits, Lawlor alleges that the Baileys unlawfully and improperly used their parental influence to break up his marriage to their daughter, the former Mary Alice Bailey.

TOOK CHILD "HOME"

The suits were filed in Suffolk superior court by Lawlor's counsel, Attorney O. S. Poland of Boston.

He said young Lawlor, salesman for a wholesale paper firm, married Miss Bailey about four years ago.

The alleged separation occurred late in May, Poland said, when Mrs. Lawlor went home to her mother, taking the Lawlor child with her.

Mrs. Bailey is a dahghter of the late Judge Henry E. Cooper, who was once acting governor of Hawaii and minister of education at Honolulu. She was brought up in the Hawaiian Islands.

FAMOUS RADIO EXPERT

The Cooper faimly is one of the oldest and most distinguished in New England.

George W. Bailey, whom Miss Alice Cooper married, was a member of the class of 1907 at Harvard.

Of independent financial means, he took up radio as a hobby and was one of the most expert amateur operators in this section of the country. On a set of his own construction, he received first news of several world famous disasters.

One of these was the explosion obard the ship Viking off Newfoundland in 1931. Another was the Long Beach, Cal., earthquake in 1933.

Just what Messrs. Hatfield and Bacon expect a Harvard course in political science is, remains to be seen. However—

Mr. Hatfield, who is Charles E. Hatfield, treasurer and reputed "boss" of Middlesex County, one-time Republican state chairman and sometimes called "maker of presidents," and Mr. Bacon, who is Gaspar Bacon, former lieutenantgovernor, one-time president of the state Senate and former Republican candidate for Governor, both are going to attend classes at Harvard summer school.

"Got to keep up with all these new-fangled ideas," explained Mr. Hatfield, who was in politics before many of Harvard's present professors and instructors were born.

Water Cut-Down Hits E. Boston

Protests were made by some residents of Lexington avenue, East Boston, that the flow of house water has been cut down today, but Daniel M. Sullivan, head of the city water division, said that a drive to force landlords in that section to pay water bills will continue.

It is part of a city-wide drive, he said, that has brought more than $250,000 in the city treasury already in back water bills. Sullivan stated about six houses in that section are effected.

S. Boston Woman Found Beaten

Her clothing torn and bleeding from several wounds, Mrs. Julia Rasimowicz, 45, of Woodward street, South Boston, was found today in the hallway of a house in Anita terrace, Roxbury, police reported.

A man, whom she charged, oplice said, was one of three with whom she went to the Roxbury house after meeting them at a restaurant, is being questioned.

Teacher Sues For Back Pay

WORCESTER, July 6—Suit for $3000 back pay and interest was filed in district court here today against the Town of Leicester in behalf of Miss Marjorie E. Frye, crippled Leicester high school teacher.

Miss Frye was suspended by town authorities a year ago. The Massachusetts Supreme Court, to which she carried her case, has ordered her reinstatement.

Her suit is for a year's salary, $1250, plus interest and other costs, her attorney, Francis P. McKeon, explained. She is an infantile paralysis victim

Bag of Mail Found Lying in Street

Discovery of a mailbag filled with letters lying in the street near South Station today gave rise to reports that there had been a mail robbery. Postoffice officials, however, said the sack fell from a loaded truck. It was returned, intact, to South Station postal annex.

Hurled Stone Kills Boy, 17

ACUSHNET, July 6—Allegedly injured by a stone thrown by an angry farmer whose land he and other boys were crossing, 17-year-old Antone Caexiro died today at Acushnet Hospital.

He had been unconscious for 12 hours.

Medical Examiner William Rosen, M. D., said he would perform an autopsy. He reported the case to District Attorney William C. Crosby.

According to the dead boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Caexiro of Bradford avenue, their son arrived home Monday night, suffering from a head injury.

He told them an Acushnet farmer, whom he named, had chased him and boy companions and had thrown stones at them.

One stone hit him on the temple, young Caexiro said.

Later that night he had hemorrhages of tie nose and mouth and lapsed into unconsciousness.

Film Monopoly Probe Urged

WASHINGTON, July 6 (INS)—Investigation of alleged monopolistic practices in the motion picture industry by the congressional-executive monopoly committee was urged today by a group of independent exhibitors.

Abram F. Myers, Washington, chairman of the board of the Allied States Motion Picture Exhibitors, asked that the committee investigate the "organization, financing, policies and practices of the motion picture industry."

Carroll Counsel May Force Court Action

SOUTH PARIS, Me., July 6—Defense counsel preparing for the trial of Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll, charged with murder, today planned a move that may throw the case into court before July 25, the date set for the trial.

This was made known today by Atty. Edward T. Beauchamp, counsel for Carroll, associated with former Atty. Gen. Clyde R. Chapman, in expressing indignation over the state keeping Barbara Carroll, 17-year-old daughter of the accused, and her mother, Mrs. Ruby Carroll, in hiding.

A 17-page confession, upon which it is said the state relies as one of the mainstays in the Carroll prosecution, demanded by the defense, will also become a part of the contemplated court action.

Attorney Beauchamp said:

"Special Assistant Attorney-General Ingalls, although he has promised to make the confession available to us, has put it off from day to day on various grounds.

"We have given him until today to make that confession available to us. If he does not we will make a motion to the court that it be produced for our benefit.

"Another problem is the fact that we want access to the Carrolls, mother and daughter, who are now in the custody of the state. It is necessary that we get in contact with them. We have also plans for court action on this in mind if we are not given access to them."

ELSIE ROBINSON, writes from the woman's viewpoint, discusses every-day affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Fights 'Red' Ballot Here

A promise he will institute legislation to wipe the names of Communist candidates from the ballots in this state was made by Senator Thomas M. Burke of Dorchester today.

SEN. THOMAS BURKE

A member of the special legislative commission probing subversive influences in the Commonwealth, Burke urged that Massachusetts follow the lead of New York State in preventing the competition of the Communist party in important elections.

"Communism has always been and still remains a conspirative body," the Senator declared. "Its leaders in this state are responsible to, and take orders from a foreign power. They use party names to conceal their identity.

"They work secretly and underground, with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the government by force and violence. These are facts readily admitted by chiefs of the Communist party in Massachusetts.

"There is no logic in allowing members of the Communist party to enjoy the same rights as legal parties. Its presence on the ballot is as inconsistent as giving aid to a foreign power at war with this nation.

"It has been proven that members of the Communist party use fraudulent names in voting. It has also been proven that they fail to comply with election laws.

"The main reason, however, why the party should be banned from the ballot is that it works toward the creation of a Soviet America, with a dictatorship similar to Russia's."

Poor 'Fish'

Angler Hooks Boy Swimmer by Nose

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 6 (AP)—An angler hooked a 125-pounder in Flint Lake, north of here, but—it wasn't a fish.

It was a swimmer, Victor Beramcyh, 15, of Gary. Physicians had to remove the hook from the boy's nose.

Homer Martin Flays 'Reds' as Union Foes

DETROIT, July 6 (INS)—Communists "have resorted to every foul scheme which their unprincipled minds could devise" in an effort to control the CIO's United Automobile Workers' Union, UAW President Homer Martin charged here today in an address.

Failing to gain control, Martin said, reds "have sought to carry out their known policy of destroying that which they cannot control."

WRECKING UNIONS

The attack on unions was inferentially against the five executive board members Martin suspended three weeks ago. He linked them with Communists, saying:

"In the shadows, working its shameful hypocricies upon a portion of our membership, stands the Communist party, whose record for union-wrecking is a matter of history.

"Theirs has been the guilty hand in the creation of confusion and diversion that for months has brought reproach upon our union.

"There are those within the union who have been working hand-in-hand with the Communist party in its nefarious activities within the union, who say they are not Communists and that they do not believe in the principles of the Communist party.

WARNS WORKERS

"We can but remind them of an old but true adage: 'Birds of a feather flock together.'

"It is high time that those who profess not to be aligned in principle or motive with the Communist party should quit their company and align themselves with the workers in their efforts to maintain a disciplined and responsible union that can accomplish the aims for which it was organized."

Maytag Opening Balked by Pickets

NEWTON, Ia., July 6 (INS)—An attempt to open the Maytag Washing Machine Co. plant collapsed today when at least 700 pickets massed about the main building.

Kelly Quiz to Hurley on 'L' Problem

Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly today submitted questions to Governor Hurley to which he stated he could not get an answer in "your secret, behind-closed-door, police-guarded meetings of the Governor's Council."

Kelly said:

"I desire to publicly ask you a few questions which I know that if I should ask you at the meetings which you hold weekly in the Glorified Council Den you would arrogantly refuse an answer."

Kelly asked Governor Hurley why he should appoint five public trustees for the "EI" for 10 years at $5000 a year.

He asked why Governor Hurley did not support his bill for the election of trustees for two years and to compel them to open their private books to the public as well as "prove their enormous, questionable annual deficit."

He asked why Governor Hurley allowed the public trustees, within two years, to increase the salary of the vice president from $14,000 to $18,000 and of the president from $21,000 to $25,000, when the road is supposed to be losing money.

He asked why Governor Hurley allowed the vacancy in the Norfolk and Plymouth county judgeship to become a "political football" for almost a year and leave his original appointment on the table for so long without a vote.

The last quer to the governor by Kelly was:

"Why not, in the last few months of your holding office on Beacon Hill, attempt to change from beingonly a "FRONT MAN" for the A. M. Governor of Massachusetts, Judge John V. Mahoney, and the P. M. Governor, Judge Joseph W. Monahan?"

Bartolini Plea Before Governor

Governor Hurley today was asked to save Oscar Bartolini, Quincy handy man condemned to death for the murder of Grayce Asquith, Weymouth widow, from the electric chair.

Attorney George B. Lourie urged that sufficient additional evidence has been uncovered to warrant executive clemency. Assistant Attorney-General James J. Ronan represented the state in opposition to the move. Decision was reserved.

Infantile Danger In Operations Seen

By G. B. LAL
International News Service Science Editor

NEW YORK, July 6—Human beings might become more susceptible to infantile paralysis following the removal of tonsils and other types of surgery, it is suggested today by Doctors William J. German and James D. Trask of Yale University, in a report to the Rockefeller Institute here.

Experimenting on monkeys under a financial grant from the President's birthday ball committee for infantile paralysis research, Doctors German and Trask investigated whether infantile paralysis can be transmitted by way of the skin.

What they found was that in certain varieties of infantile paralysis viruses, particles smaller than germs are transmitted through the skin, and such infection is increased after certain surgical operations.

For a long time some investigators had insisted that infantile paralysis enters the body only through the nose.

But the Yale doctors point out that some infantile paralysis viruses pass into the human body through the skin, others perhaps by food and so on.

According to the Yale doctors:

"Various operations increased the susceptibility of the monkeys to the infection."

Doctors German and Trask suggest that the increased susceptibility to infantile paralysis in human beings after tonsil operations, reported by some observers, might be explained in the light of these monkey experiments.

With Hundreds Dead

Jap Flood Perils Americans

TOKYO, July 7 (Thursday) — (AP) — Scores of American residents were imperilled early today by a flood roaring out of its surrounding hills into Kobe, principal port of western Japan, where the dead were estimated at between 400 and 480.

Frederick Taylor, native of Sacramento, Cal., at midnight gave the Associated Press a vivid telephoned picture of the flood, which had cut a tragic path through the heart of the city of 938,000.

"Its still raining and I am heading for higher ground before morning," said Taylor, long a resident of Kobe. "I will try to get out by launch tomorrow.

"The best information shows between 400 and 480 are dead, but so many buildings have been smashed flat that nobody can say for certain.

"We knew five foreigners are dead. They are a Frenchman, a Russian, a German woman and two Portuguese children. I do not believe any Americans have been killed or injured.

"It has been raining for three days and the hills on all sides of Kobe have been slipping.

"The slides seemed to advance like moving mountains right up to the residential districts. They came within a few feet of my place.

"You can hear low rumbling and then trees crashing.

"There's a reservoir in the hills back of the city and some say it broke. I do not know. Anyway, millions of tons of water must have been dammed in the hills by slides.

WALL OF WATER RUSHING

"Yesterday (Wednesday) morning a cloudburst hit us. An hour later a regular Niagara came out of the hills. We heard an awful roar, but it was not much warning.

"A solid wall of water about five or six feet high came down so very fast few in its path had time to escape. It smashed foreign and Japanese houses like matchboxes. The sound of wood splintering and crashing could be heard easily amid the thunder of the waters.

"The flood drove like a giant streamroller right through the middle of the residential district and was stil going full force when it hit the business section.

"Where houses and buildings stood a day ago there is now a corridor about as wide as the Sacramento river with a river going through."

Grand Jury Action Delayed On Bathelt

NORTHAMPTON, July 6—Though admitting their case is complete, authorities today marked time in the prosecution of J. Paul Bathelt, held on a charge of the murder of Charles Morris, racetrack follower.

Acting District Attorney Stillman D. Hitchcock announced he would not go before Judge John P. Higgins of superior court today to ask an immediate reconvening of the grand jury in Bathelt's case.

Hitchcock said he "could" make that move at once, but had decided to defer action until later in the week to allow state police to gather in loose ends of their evidence.

Police announced their end of the case was virtually closed, with enough evidence rounded up to assure prosecution when Hitchcock gives the word.

The decision to seek a reconvening came after two conferences. At one were Hitchcock and counsel for Bathelt. At the other were Hitchcock, Captain John F. Stokes, Lieutenant Maurice Nelligan and Sergeant-Detective John J. Horgan of the state police.

prorogation of the Legislature will be indefinitely deferred."

He referred to his recent messages for bond issues as high as $23,625,000 that were turned down flatly by both branches of the Legislature.

"In announcing my candidacy, may I say that I deeply appreciate the confidence that hundreds of thousands of men and women manifested by electing me to the office of governer?" the Hurley announcement continued.

His statement concluded:

"I am confident that no act of mine has given them any cause to regret their choice I pledge to these men and women and to the citizens of the Commonwealth that I shall continue to maintain the honored traditions of that office"

LASHES AT CURLEY

Curley's entry became the subject of two statements by James T. Burke, secretary to Lieutenant-Governor Kelly. Kelly was first of the present field of four to announce for promotion to the governor's chair.

"U. S. Senator Lodge and Mayor Maurice Tobin defeated him and Kelly will return Mr. Curley to private life once and for all," was Secretary Burke's first statement.

He adde, later:

"I cannot believe that ex-Governor Curley, after 40 years as a professional politician, could allow his name to go on the ballot after two outstanding defeats by young men within the short period of 19 months. It is about time he controlled his selfishness and gave someone else some of the many opportunities he has had in the past."

Howard Haines Murphy, deposed commissioner of agriculture, is the fourth announced candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Former Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge is also expected to be a candidate.

Bruneau, S-4 Radio Man, in Governor Race

The first independent to announce his candidacy for governor appeared at the office of Director of Elections William N. Hardy, at the State House today.

He is Roland Bruneau, of 13 Norumbega street, Cambridge, former radio operator on the ill-fated submarine S-4, naval radio instructor and figure in Medford and Cambridge politics for several years.

Under the election rules, Bruneau's name will not appear on the primary ballot. He must file 250 signatures before primary day, September 20.

B. & A. Workers Urge Fare Raise

F. A. Simons, state chairman of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Locomotive Engineers, and William G. Reardon of the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, today urged the state public utilities commission to permit the Boston & Albany Railroad to increase its rates.

They said their organizations favor a 20 per cent increase in the price of 60-ride commutation and 46-ride student tickets.

Attorney George E. Fernald, Jr., for the railroad, told the commission that the New York Central plans to take all of the road's proposed new $3,015,007 bond issue and hold it in its own treasury until times improve. This was in support of a request that the proposed bond issue be ok'ed.

Adam Haug, auditor of the Boston & Albany, testified that passenger revenue for 1937 was $4,167,743; freight revenue, $9,276,851. The cost of operation per passenger mile, he stated, was 1.47 cents. The road is leased by the New York Central system.

by George Sheppard, 20, employed on a landscaping project at the beach.

Not stopping to remove even his shoes, he plunged to young Conway's aid.

Diving repeatedly, the rescuer at last located the boy's form and brought it to the surface.

Meanwhile, three other workers, Edward McCoy, 35, Walter Davis, 32, and George Davis, 18, all of Cambridge, had launched a lifeboat and assisted Sheppard in getting the Conway boy to the float.

Sheppard and his fellow workers applied first aid measures for more than 20 minutes before the boy victim was revived.

Police took him to Cambridge City Hospital, where he was treated for immersion and held for observation.

Tucky's Pa Has a Pain, Jobs Wait

A very real toothache today took ex-Socialite Francis Ormond French's mind off the figurative headache conflicting job offers have been causing him.

So he left his home in Middletown, R. I., and planned to spend this afternoon in the office of a Newtonville dentist.

A promise to "think over" proffered employment on a Brighton golf range was best reply French was willing to give the golf range proprietor, Edward C. ("Ted") Madden, who brought him and Mrs. French to Boston today.

LURE OF NIGHT LIFE

Madden said French would stay tonight at a Boston hotel and would decide later whether to work at the golf range or accept "more lucrative" offers.

One of these was made by a Springfield toothpaste company, the other by a New York night club.

The latter seemed, on the face of it, to be most tempting to wealthy Ellen "Tucky" French Astor's financially impoverished daddy.

For one thing, the night club offer entails a $30-a-week salary — $9 more than the golf range—and in addition gives French the important title of assistant manager and assistant host.

JOHN ON PATRONS' LIST

Add to that the fact that John Jacob is on the patrons' list at the club, and that a number of prominent persons, including Mrs. Stanwood Mencken, Adelaide Moffett, "Jock" Whitney, Gloria Baker and Howard Hughes, attend its festivities, and you have an enticing temptation indeed.

In a telegram to French the club manager, who calls his establishment the "mecca of the rhumba and tango enthusiasts," expressed confidence that Astor's father-in-law would be very happy to again play host "to the set with which you once travelled."

Hurley Rites In Somerville Tomorrow

The funeral of Edward L. Hurley, sports columnist and turf editor of the Daily Record, who died suddenly early Monday, will be held tomorrow from his late home, 19 Pearson road, West Somerville.

Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Clement's Church, Somerville, at 9 o'clock, by Rev. J. J. Scollan, and burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Active bearers will be Thomas Thorp, steward of Suffolk Downs, and Mortimer Mahoney, head of the mutuel department, representing horse racing interests; Jeremiah Buckley, Michael J. McNamee, Edward Mack, John E. Conway, sports director of Hearst papers in Boston; William McAuley of the Record sports department, and James F. Murphy, managing editor of the Daily Record.

Honorary bearers will be Edward T. Collins, general manager of the Red Sox; Robert Quinn, president of the Boston Bees; Howard Reynolds, president of the New England Turf Writers' Association, with a delegation; Joseph Cashman, president of the Boston chapter of Turf Writers Association, with a delegation; Joseph Cashman, president of the Boston Chapter of Baseball Writers' Association, with a delegation; Paul Bowser, wrestling promoter; David Arata, boxing promoter; Russell Murray and Peter Kelley of Wonderland dog track; Charles L. Mooney, Western Union, Stephen J. Mahoney and Ralph Rubenstein.

DR. HOMER GAGE

WORCESTER, July 6 (AP)—The simple Episcopal service, devoid of music and eulogy, was used at the funeral of Dr. Homer Gage, president of Crompton and Knowles Loom Works, here this afternoon.

Representatives of Boston and Worcester financial institutions, numerous industries, hospitals, and of the Community Chest, which he had headed for 18 years, attended the services, read by Rev. Pierson P. Harris, pastor of Central Congregational Church. Cremation followed at Forest Hills. The ashes will be interred at committal services in Rural Cemetery tomorrow.

GEORGE B. GAVIN

Services for George B. Gavin, day editor of the Boston Globe, who died suddenly at his summer home in Rockport last Monday night, will be held tomorrow morning with a high mass of requiem at Boston College Chapel at 10 o'clock.

Active bearers will be Frank Donovan of Newton, Dr. Charles Mullen of Cambridge, George Cavanaugh of Brookline, Thomas Cavanaugh of Newton, Dr. Thomas Cunningham of Cambridge, John West of West Hill place, Boston; George Mahoney of Newton and James E. O'Connell of Milton.

DR. T. J. CAHILL

Funeral services for Dr. Thomas J. Cahill, 54, chief obstetrician and executive board member of the Cambridge City Hospital, will be held at the family home, Prospect street, Cambridge, tomorrow morning, with a high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church at 10.

Dr. Cahill, a brother of the late Dr. Charles S. Cahill, one of the hospital's founders, died Monday night at his Line street, Cambridge, home. He was graduated from Tufts Medical School and entered practise in 1908. He had been associated with the hospital 20 years. During the war he was a lieutenant in the medical corps.

His widow and four sisters survive him.

DR. A. G. HOWARD

Rites for Dr. Alonzo Gale Howard, 68, professor emeritus of orthopedic surgery at Boston University Medical School, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the main chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Dr. Howard developed the orthopedic surgery department at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital and was chief of that department until a few years ago. He was graduated from Boston University Medical School in 1895.

Sell American System Here, Brin's Advice

Most important task facing the nation today is that of "selling the American system of government to the American people," Alexander Brin, editor and publisher of the Jewish Advocate and member of the state advisory board of education, told members of the Belmont Rotary Club.

Speaking at Payson Hall, Brin warned his hearers that "infiltration of foreign ideologies is threatening to mislead unsuspecting Americans in their conception of true Americanism."

He denounced "internal foes who scoff at principles of the American constitution and applaud tyranny and despotism."

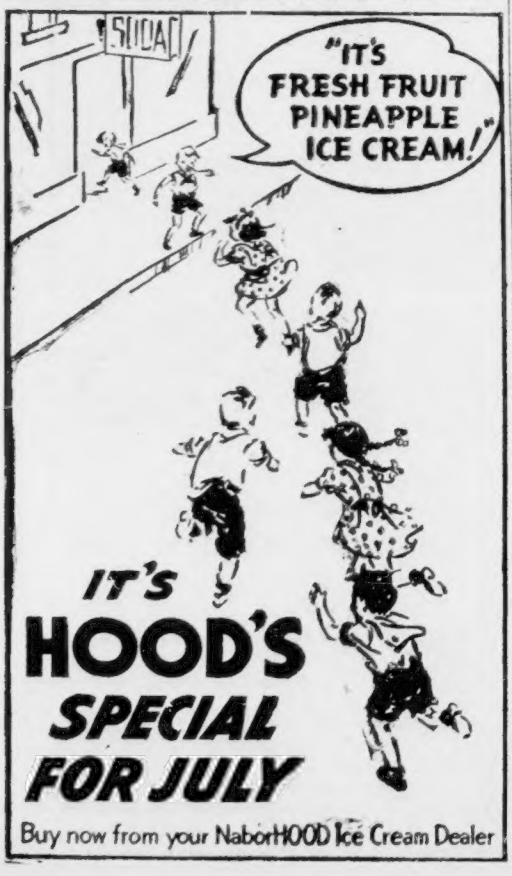
"They would use free speech to destroy free speech," Brin said. "They would use political liberty to crush political liberty. They believe not in the inalienable rights of man but in the inalienable rights of dictators.

"America must be alert against these enemies who seek to plunge the dagger of discord into the very heart of our nation by inciting race against race, creed against creed, in order to undermine the foundations of government."

News Broadcasts Are Under Survey

WASHINGTON, July 6 (INS)—A survey of all radio news broadcasts, including talks by commentators, to determine whether they are "biased," has been launched by the National Association of Broadcasters, Mark Ethridge, retiring president, announced today.

The inquiry was prompted by a complaint from an undisclosed source, which charged that some stations are "slanting the news."



Lehman Pays Up Big F. R. Deficit

ALBANY, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—Herbert Lehman, three-term Democratic governor of New York, joined the ranks today of "budget balancing governors."

The executive said he was "glad" to report that not only has the last remnant of the $94,000,000 deficit he inherited from Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933 been wiped out through "economies and savings," but that a surplus of $6,469,322 exists.

Gov. Lehman

"I am satisfied the accumulated surplus has been achieved without sacrificing any of the essential social and economic interests of the people of the state," he asserted.

Lehman, long an advocate of "strict economy" in government, predicted last January that the remaining $10,000,000 of the seven-year-old deficit would be eliminated and that there would be a surplus providing "business conditions improve."

Later, he warned that rising unemployment relief costs and continuation of the business recession threatened to prevent wiping out of the debt.

The deficit aggregated $42,793,540 in June, 1932, midway in Mr. Roosevelt's last term as governor, and mounted to $94,428,496 the following year. It was $64,725,778 in 1934, $97,048,752 in 1935, $55,878,155 in 1936 and $10,198,451 last year.

Survey of South First of Series

WASHINGTON, July 6 (INS)—If New Deal's current examination of the South's economic conditions, which President Roosevelt declared constitute "the nation's No. 1 economic problem," results in their elimination or improvement, similar studies and recommendations for their improvement, will be made of sub-standard or slow conditions that obtain in other sections of the country.

"If this turns out to be a successful undertaking," Director Lovell Mellett of the National Emergency Council said today, "the same thing will be tried in other sections."

Charged by President Roosevelt to "obtain a statement—or perhaps I should say a re-statement, as of today—of the economic conditions of the South" as they affect the country nationally, the council is not expected to complete the initial draft of its report for another two weeks.

Fall Riven Labor Leader Beaten

FALL RIVER, July 6—After being kidnaped and beaten, Oswald F. Crockford, 41-year-old labor organizer, was hurled from an automobile in Somerset early today by four men, who fired five shots at him as they sped away.

The victim, who represented 15 striking truckmen, was treated for a brain concussion, six deep head lacerations and bruises on his face and body.

Crockford told police he represented strikers at a Fall River fuel oil concern. He declared he could identify one of his attackers by sight.

Barrow's Margin In Primary 48,413

AUGUSTA, Me., July 6 (AP) — Official tabulation of Maine primary election results today set at 48,413 votes Republican Gov. Lewis O. Barrows' margin over State Sen. Roy L. Fernald of Winterport.

Totals were: Barrows, 72,927; Fernald, 24,514.

ormer Gov. Louis J. Brann, who will oppose Barrows in September, received 27,374 votes as unopposed Democratic candidate.

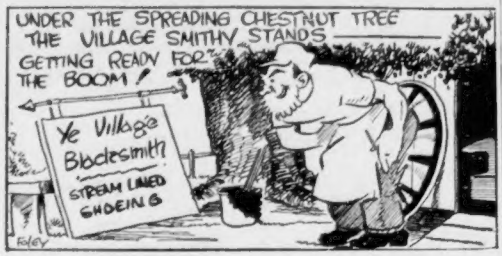
Dobbin in Comeback

NEW YORK, July 6 (INS)—The horse is staging a come-back to this age of airplanes and automobiles, the American Veterinary Medical Association was informed here today at its diamond jubilee.

Dr. T. A. Sigler, Greencastle, Ind., of the board of managers of the Horse and Mule Association, told the assembled veterinarians:

"The association is glad to report that there has been a tremendous increase in the use of pleasure horses. Riding clubs are increasing all over the country due to this added interest in the pleasure horse.

"Good horse shows are being staged in many of the small towns throughout the country, which is creating an added interest in all horses."



An estimate by the U. S. Department of Agriculture was cited by Dr. Sigler to show that the total value of horses and mules in this country amounted to $1,739,067,000, or almost twice the value of all sheep and swine in the United States.

"In fact," Dr. Sigler added, "the value of horses and mules is almost equal to the combined value of all beef cattle, sheep and swine in the country."

Count Set to Name 'Rival' In New Babs' Tilt

Insulted

HAUGWITZ-REVENTLOW
Plans Bombshell

On Spot

COUNTESS BARBARA
What'll She Tell?

By THOMAS C. WATSON
International News Service Correspondent

LONDON, July 6—Count Von Haugwitz-Reventlow, depicted as an enraged husband who threatened to shoot a suspected love rival and demanded $5,000,000 for a divorce, made ready today to mount the witness stand and drop a verbal bombshell in his battle against criminal allegations lodged by his American-born wife.

The Danish nobleman, resisting charges which might on conviction carry a maximum of three to five years at hard labor, was understood to be preparing a spectacular counter-blast designed to undermine testimony given yesterday by attorneys for his wife, the former Barbara Hutton.

The nature of the story the count will tell when he takes the stand at resumption of the trial a week from tomorrow was not known.

But speculation ran high concerning the identity of a "London gentleman high in English society" whom, according to the testimony of one of Barbara's lawyers, the count had threaten d to "shoot like a dog."

THEIR HOME LIFE

The possibility that Court will introduce evidence to substantiate his charge that Winfield house is not a proper place for Lance, their two-year-old son, is anticipated as a further tid-bit.

It would reveal for the first time the story of life in the household behind the walls of the palatial mansion in Regent's Park where Barbara and the child are now living under close guard.

Meanwhile, Mayfair's newest pastime today was "naming the man who, according to the story unfolded in court, demanded that court challenge him to a duel.

There were wildest guesses as to his identity as society devoured verbatim accounts of the New street proceedings under flaming headlines in all newspapers, but so far no name of any rival for the Woolworth heiress' affections has been read into the court record.

Count's 'Rival' Son of an Earl, U. S. Mother

In the light of testimony in London that he threatened to "shoot like a dog" this unnamed man, the comment of Cholly Knickerbocker in the Boston Evening American on June 29 is interesting.

Cholly wrote:

"Barbara has been interested, romantically, for months and months past, in the 30-year-old second son of an English earl.

"The young man, whose mother was an American, is reportedly having marital difficulties with his second wife, his first wife having become the wife of an American and a figure in the 'intelligentsia group' out on Longyland . . ."

HER STOLEN LETTER

There was also considerable curiosity about the contents of a letter Haugwitz-Reventlow was accused of having purloined from his estranged wife before he left last month to go to Paris.

Excited society circles wondered whether, when the count has his day in court next week, he will disclose the identity of the "London gentleman" and the contents of the letter.

The speculation came as a sequel to the first open legal battle between the count and the countess yesterday in dingy Bow street police court. A British lawyer, William M. Mitchell, portrayed the count as a tempestuous man who plotted variously to put his wife "on the spot," seize and carry away their little son and commit suicide.

BABS SITS NEAR

The lone witness at the initial session of the trial on the charges contained in a warrant sworn out by Barbara, the lawyer told his story while both principals in the international marital drama, sitting within arm's reach of each other, listened intently.

Supporting an opening statement made by Barbara's chief counsel about the wreck of the $40,000,000 marriage, Mitchell testified that the Count had hinted of methods by which he could exact a high price for any divorce for which the Countess, according to the witness, was willing to pay as high as $500,000, although only $250,000 was actually offered.

Meanwhile, legal experts said several courses are open to the magistrate in the event of conviction. He can, under British law, bind the count over on good behavior for two years on his own recognizance or ask for a surety bond.

Or, if the surety is not forthcoming, the magistrate is empowered to impose a maximum sentence of six months.

PRISON TERM POSSIBLE

He has the authority to send the case for trial to a higher court, where the maximum punishment stipulated for such charges is a sentence of from three to five years at hard labor.

Mitchell unfolded a startling story, picturing the Count as a man "of violent and ungovernable temper:" and strangely variable moods against whom the Countess felt it necessary to obtain police protection for herself and Lance.

That the Count demanded $5,000,000 in exchange for a divorce from Barbara, heiress to the $40,000,000 Woolworth five-and-ten-cent fortune, and rejected a counter offer of $250,000 as a "laughable insult."

"3 YEARS OF HELL"

That he threatened to seize little Lance, whom he described as his "absolute property," and take the child "away from England forever" because Winfield House, Barbara's palatial London residence, was "not a suitable place" for the boy to be reared.

That he spoke of giving Barbara "three years of hell with headlines," and that he alternately abused her in "obscene language" and tearfully referred to her in terms of love and endearment.

That both the count and countess will be called to the stand to tell personally their stories of shattered romance and bitter filial strife is virtually a certainty.

Nazis Seize 50 At Danish Border

COPENHAGEN, July 6 (INS)—In a swoop on the German-Danish frontier zone during the night, Reich secret police arrested 50 persons for alleged anti-social activities, according to reports today from the border city of Flensburg. Those arrested, it was said, were sent to a concentration camp.

Count Holds 3 Aces, But Cash Is His Aim

NEW YORK, July 6 (INS)—The marital dispute between the Count and Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow will end in "shattered reputations" unless some out-of-court settlement is reached, Cholly Knickerbocker, society editor of the New York Journal-American, declares in a copyright story today.

"For those in the know," Knickerbocker writes, "insist Haugwitz-Reventlow has at least three aces up his sleeve to spring on his American-born Danish countess when the time arrives."

Discussing the financial aspects of the case, Knickerbocker says:

"Money has become one of the ruling passions of Haugwitz-Reventlow's life.

"If you take the trouble to look up the U. S. income tax paid by Barbara Hutton in this country, you'll be amazed to find it is practically nothing when compared with the wealth she enjoys.

"That is because the bulk of her wealth, on Haugwitz-Reventlow's advice, was removed from this side of the Atlantic and reinvested abroad.

"Today Barbara holds only a small block of F. W. Woolworth stock and whatever money she still has here is invested in tax-exempt Government bonds.

"Apparently Haugwitz-Reventlow's administration of his wife's wealth did not meet with her full approval. Less than six months ago a noted Wall street firm was engaged to go over all of the Woolworth heiress' investments and, so to speak, bring order out of chaos.

"This job was recently completed and, while the Wall street firm did not find that Haugwitz-Reventlow had brought about a depreciation in Barbara's wealth, it was thought advisable to put her money in more secure investments."

New Health for Folks Past 40

"Turn Back the Years"

YOU may have read in recent issue of The New York Times that two Boston physicians have found a "rapid and often spectacular cure" for heart disease caused by malnutrition. THIS CURE WAS THE ADMINISTRATION OF VITAMIN B. Two days later the same newspaper published a scientific report of the further wonders of Vitamin B—how its addition to the diet restores color to the hair, and how appetite is greatly increased by it.

This very vitamin is now obtainable in concentrated form under the name Vi-B. Made entirely from the heart of wheat—no added ingredients of any kind—Vi-B has a very pleasant taste. Just eat a tablespoonful or more daily and your whole body responds to its benefit.

IF YOU SUFFER FROM
Low Vitality, Neuritis, Nervousness and Other Nerve Disorders
Stomach Ulcers, Colitis, or Constipation
Loss of Appetite
Lowered Sex Interest
Anemia, Arthritis
— YOU NEED THIS NEW FOOD ELEMENT

Vi-B improves tissues, promotes restful sleep, and invigorates the system.

Vi-B contains seven vitamins and minerals essential for health. Besides containing MORE VITAMIN B THAN ANY OTHER KNOWN NATURAL FOOD PRODUCT, each bot of Vi-B contains more Vitamin B, than is found in 216 cakes of bakers yeast costing $1.50. Every tablespoon of Vi-B contains more Vitamin B1 than 5 one pound loaves of whole wheat bread.

Vi-B is a concentrate of the greatest known sorce food - Vitamin B1. It is a wonderful aid in constipation. Vi-B supplies your daily diet with the elements from which the powerful peasants obtain their amazing strength and stamina.

Hundreds are reporting better health after taking Vi-B. Thousands more need it—and so we are making this unusual offer . . . We guarantee that a few weeks' use of Vi-B will help you to eat better, sleep better, look better and feel better—or we will refund your money on return of the empty package.

And for a short time, if you cut out this ad and bring it to any Nature Food Centres Store you can get a regular $1.25 bot of Vi-B at the special introductory price of 98 cents (6 bots $5.00). Address: 72 Tremont St. and 192 Mass. Ave., Boston. 674 Mass. Ave., Cambridge. 261 Union St., Lynn. This sample of writing reveals the writer loves to be flowery in speech, dwelling on details until it becomes tiresome. The result of a very imaginative mind and one which is [illegible].

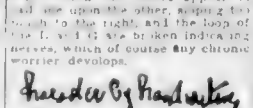
In the next sample of writing we find a style that is a habitual writer. The person worries about [illegible] or [illegible].

If they would be happy unless they had something to worry about.

Now, now the letters appear to fall one upon the other, sloping too much to the right, and the loop of the L and G are broken indicating nerves, which of course any chronic worrier develops.



This is an interesting sample of writing in that it shows a very [illegible], warm and ardent nature, [illegible] responsiveness and culture. There is keen intuition here shown by the breaks all through the writing and good balance between [illegible] emotions.

It does, however, indicate that the writer would not be very robust in health varying from poor to good.

Chatter in Hollywood: What is this Annabella-Tyrone Power friendship? Saw the two of them very much tete-a-tete in a drive-in place Saturday night and later, at a night spot. Then one of my scouts saw them together at Ensenada completely devoted to each other.

That boy certainly has what it takes with the women. Sonja Henie had a difficult time getting him out of her system and Janet Taylor cannot be said to be indifferent to the lad who has such "charm and is so handsome that the girls all find him irresistible."

New Mystery Play at Keene

'Danger' mystery play by Tom Barry, opened a week's run last night at the Keene Summer Theater at Keene, N. H., with Gretchen Davidson and Edward Trevor in the leading roles. Others in the cast are Kenneth Bisbee, Carrie Bridewell, Barbara Parker, Robert Lambert and William Waldman.

Presented under the direction of Freeman Hemmond, "Danger" is said to be a whodunit that compares favorably with "The Bat" and "The Cat and the Canary."

Uptown Offers 'Vivacious Lady'

"Vivacious Lady," starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, will be the Uptown's top film drama for the week starting Friday.

Important cast are James Ellison, Beulah Bondi, Charles Coburn, Frances Mercer.

'SHEIK' AT NEWSREEL

Boston's only Newsreel Theater, at Huntington and Massachusetts avenues, opposite Symphony Hall, will initiate a change of policy, starting Saturday. On that day, it will present "The Son of the Sheik," one of the late Rudolph Valentino's most popular films, in addition to its many newsreels, at regular prices.

'Distaff Side' For the Surry

Surry Theater, at Surry, Me., announces a last-minute change in its summer repertory. "The Distaff Side," by John Van Druten will be substituted for Gerald Savory's George and Margaret for the week of August 16 to 20.

New Features For Loew's

On the basis of "Three Comrades" it would seem that Margaret Sullavan should return to Hollywood to stay. Miss Sullavan, who has been appearing on the Metropolitan Opera House stage in New York, and Robert Taylor, star of "The Crowd Roars," and "Three Comrades," are the young movie stars to be featured with Miss Sullavan.

The companion feature is Constance Bennett, Mona Barrie, Jonathan Hale, Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young.

Miss Sullavan in "The Shop Around the Corner" is cast as a hard-boiled girl clerk who gets married. A wife-eyed mother, James Stewart, on the eve of his departure for France, unaware that she has an admirer in the person of Walter Pidgeon, rich man about town.

Nat Pendleton, Alan Curtis and Stan Levene present a revealing picture of three soldiers famous, so as to depict the average American soldier who fought in the last war. Others in the cast are Hattie McDaniel, Eleanor Lynn and Charlie D. Brown.

In "Man's Castle" Tracy is seen as a shiftless homeless vagrant and Miss Young as a hungry, helpless waif whom he rescues from the streets and takes to his ramshackle tin shanty in the Hoovervile "dumps." Left alone and responsible, he soon becomes restless under the restraint of living so long in one place and he tells the girl he doesn't love her and plans to leave her. She happy in the home she has, sees her world crumbling.

Discovering that she is to have a baby, he attempts a robbery to get money and fails. But the results of that failure straighten out the tangled romance of these offspring of poverty. Included in the cast are Marjorie Rambeau, Glenda Farrell, Walter Connolly, Arthur Hohl and Dickie Moore.

[illegible] is a worthy answer to President Roosevelt's request [illegible] cooperation, in which he voiced confidence [illegible] private enterprise—capital and labor alike—[illegible] together, and in greater cooperation with [illegible] than they have in the past.

New England workers—thousands of them disgusted with labor conditions and many [illegible] WILL CO-OPERATE. That is certain. New England workers want the well-filled pay envelopes [illegible] private industry can provide.

In turn, the government should also give the UTMOST CO-OPERATION to the workers and to the mills and factories that employ workers.

Allegations with him that the cause of the Democratic Party will be irreparably harmed by having "the solemn obligation imposed upon it of expending relief in this dire emergency PROSTITUTED WITH POLITICAL FAVORITISM AND PRESSURE POLITICS."

The misfortunes of the needy have fallen upon all kinds of our people, and all have an equal right to what assistance the government can give.

The test of those persons responsible for relief must not be their devotion to party slate.

They must not be compelled to yield their rights as citizens and voters, independent as servants, the PRICE OF SUCCOR.

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

MACON, [illegible]

SOME very strong pressure is being brought to bear on Mr Roosevelt to cause him to abandon any effort he may intend to make to drive his Supreme Court-packing opponent, Walter F. George from the United States Senate.

As the situation stands in Georgia today the President would do it, George would certainly be renominated if the primaries were to be held today. He would win by the largest vote in the State's political history.

In the whole range of human events it is hard to imagine the White House and the Department of Justice [illegible] the known exception [illegible] that it may be said has [illegible] previously [illegible].

NEVERTHELESS, the presence in the contest of former Governor Eugene Talmadge interjects an element of uncertainty.

It will be recalled that back in 1933 the President caused the removal of Gene as administrator of relief in Georgia. Then began the bitter feud with Roosevelt which is reflected today in the former governor's candidacy for the Senate on an anti-Deal platform.

It is said that Talmadge has declared that if he thought that by remaining in he would throw Georgia to the New Deal he would get out, but this, while generally believed, is rumor and lacks official confirmation.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOME women put a man on a pedestal; other women use him as a pedestal to stand on, so they can attract other men.

The surest way to make a man do anything you want him to do, from loving you to leaving you, is to tell him that he ought NOT to.

The honeymoon is beginning to wane, when the bridegroom realizes how much easier it is to love a woman when her father is paying for her facials, her permanents and her stockings.

Cheer up, if poverty is your only stumbling-block to marriage. Many a love match has withstood the undertow of hard times, only to be all washed-up on a wave of prosperity.

Modern Science Finds Cure for Insanity

What is the cause of insanity? Can science prove conclusively whether or not a man is mad?

Insanity is one of life's realities. It is a reality most of us would rather ignore and a problem we hurriedly turn over to science and psychology.

TODAY medical science has accomplished much in treating the dread disease invisible to the eye but recognizable in its horrible effects. Psychiatry, the modern science of the mind, and modern medicine hope to achieve TOMORROW permanent cures.

In this the first of a series, a brief study is made of the subject.

By WILLIAM MICHELFELDER
Boston Evening American Staff Writer

In a dark world of strange groping. A subterranean labyrinth of twisted thought and emotion, lives the soul of a madman.

Mental health, psychologists rule, is a matter of an individual adjusting himself to the outer world.

The refusal or inability to bridge that gap is the first step toward the labyrinth.

The above procedure as generally ascribed to persons who gave no previous indication of unbalance and show no trace of insanity in the family tree.

But what are the conditions which lead to apostasy from the normal individual?

A [illegible] MODERN CIVILIZATION [illegible]

WHY?

[illegible] PSYCHIC VITALITY

[illegible] VITALITY [illegible] was remain [illegible] Perhaps that would [illegible] pushed to complexity and conflict beyond its power. THEN that mind, unable to cope with the challenge, seeks SECLUSION WITH ITSELF. No. 1 step to irrational behavior.

Physicians and psychiatrists hold that psychic vitality may be lowered, aside from the pace of modern life, by:

SEX AND AGE. The total difference in number of insanity cases according to age is slight, almost negligible. In the male excessive drinking diseases and general stress tend to balance evenly with natural disturbances in women.

CLIMATE. Conditions which cause exhaustion and make infection more liable.

BIOLOGICAL PERIODS. At the period of maturity, adolescence and special chemical, bodily and mental changes which sap the individual's physic vitality.

Can insanity become permanently cured?

SCIENCE AND PSYCHIATRY ARE UNANIMOUS IN AGREEMENT.

Only yesterday at Boston State Hospital, we learned, a new "shock" treatment has been evolved, already successful. That treatment, and the ACTUAL TECHNIQUE used to cure insanity, will be discussed in a subsequent article.

Permanent cures are controlled by varieties and degrees of insanity.

AS YET, THERE IS NO GENERAL LAW GOVERNING THE APPROACH TO A CURE. It is personal. No two persons are exactly alike and the causes may be widely different. SO AS PEOPLE ARE DIFFERENT EACH CASE MUST BE TREATED DIFFERENTLY.

Mental operations are super-imposed upon one another. However, those that are LEAST ACTIVE may be arrested and [illegible] by [illegible] PERSONAL TYPE of [illegible]

PEOPLE WHO HAVE LIVED [illegible] VITALITY. [illegible]

THEY TELL YOU THAT THE MACHINE AGE, VARIETY OF INVENTION AND CHEMICAL DISCOVERY HAVE ANYTHING TO DO WITH CONFUSING THE MIND.

YET [illegible] HAS there [illegible] [illegible]

"THE GREATER THE EXCITEMENT THE GREATER DEPRESSION IS APT TO BE."

DEMENTIA PRAECOX, most violent and feared type of insanity, was cured in eight of ten cases. The method consists of an OVERDOSE OF INSULIN which produced an "opiate shock." In 70 per cent of all cases so treated, there was at least DEFINITE improvement.

Efforts to discover a treatment that would even temporarily, if not permanently cure insanity, have been pushed by medical savants for centuries. Every so often one would temporarily astound the medical world by announcing he had made a big step forward. Not always, however, did these claims stand the gruelling test of practical application by other investigators, with the result that they were left to languish and eventually be heard of no more.

It may be said, however, that greater advancement has been made in the attempts to solve the mysteries of curing insanity during the past fifty years than during much of the preceding decades devoted to the effort and that the results obtained have been of a more satisfactory character. This has come about through the fact that different investigators have co-operated more closely of late years than formerly, large hospitals, laboratories and clinics bringing them into close touch.

Special Bulletin from George on Vacation

Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, is slated to succeed Judge James J. Ronan as first assistant attorney general of Massachusetts. The Legion head, who formerly was an assistant district attorney in Middlesex County, probably will accept the No. 1 post under Attorney General Paul Dever, made vacant when Governor Hurley elevated Judge Ronan to an associate justiceship on the State Supreme Court.

Incidentally, the bird with the big bill is reported hovering over the Doherty home in Woburn for the first time since Dan's marriage 12 years ago to Mary Elizabeth Linehan.

That's exactly how long it lasted . . . later, though, George got even . . . he sold it to the dodoes out in Hollywood and they produced it . . .

When he was just a brash young man, he did the publicity for Cohan and Harris in New York . . . they married two sisters and, not to be thwarted, George hauled off and married the third . . .

When he was discharged from the navy at the end of the war, he hopped aboard as a civilian clerk at Camp Devens and, in 24 hours, won immortality . . . With some of the most wheedling words that ever dripped from the tongue of man, he put the bite on the stingiest man in the outfit . . . throughout the entire war, the gent had been immune . . . George got a fast hundred . . .

One night he walked into the American office, when Harry Benwell was on the desk . . . "Stay close, Harry!" he warned. "There's going to be some trouble at the Club Chateau" . . . Twenty-five minutes later, "Keno" Keenan was murdered . . .

Molly Bowditch To Live in Panama

By BETTY ALDEN

THE THOUGHT of several years' residence at a naval post in the Panama Canal Zone, would seem like exile to most society girls . . . but to a person of Molly Bowditch's serious interests and many talents, it will undoubtedly prove a rich and interesting experience.

Molly becomes the bride of Kenneth Winsor, member of the U. S. Naval Air Corps Reserve, this afternoon at a small family wedding and, after making the trip to Colon and setting up housekeeping in her new home with [illegible] time to indulge her [illegible] wedding and [illegible].

The wedding is taking place at the Brookline home of Miss [illegible], Mrs. L. Asbury Wood who also has residences in Dedham, Lenox and Manchester . . . Only the immediate families have been invited to the ceremony and the reception which follows, and every detail of the occasion has been planned with utmost sincerity to comply with Miss Wood's wish for a small, informal wedding.

Her sister Mrs. William Bond Wheelwright, Jr., Eliza Bowditch, is her only attendant . . . Their father Maitland Bowditch, of Boston, is giving the bride in marriage and Rev. Ralph H. Fordwar, of the First Parish Church of Dorchester, is officiating.

The bride is wearing an ivory satin gown trimmed with Renaissance lace and her tulle veil is fastened to her blonde curls' [illegible] of orange blossoms . . . She is carrying a bouquet of mixed white flowers.

The matron of honor's gown is of pale yellow chiffon, with a picture hat to match and she is wearing a wreath of yellow roses and forget me nots in her hair, to blend with her bouquet of yellow roses and delphinium.

Mrs. Welch has chosen a costume of blue linen with a large black straw hat and Mrs. John T. Winsor, of West Medford, mother of the bridegroom, is wearing a gown of beige moss crepe with dubonnet hat and slippers.

Gordon Dow Winsor is attending his brother as best man and, due to the simplicity of the occasion, there are only two ushers, William Bond Wheelwright, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride and Harry Wood, of Medford.

The change from social activities of Beacon Hill to housekeeping in the semi-tropics will not be as abrupt for Molly as it would be for many of the other girls in her set . . . for she gave up her social butterfly career several years ago to enter M. I. T. as the first woman student of architecture . . . It was there that she met her bridegroom, who at that time was a member of the class of 1937 of the M. I. T. School of Architecture . . . He left to join the air corps before completing his course.

Molly made her debut at a ball at the Junior League in November, 1931, at which she shared honors with Martha Bird and Dorothy Hastings. She is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club . . . Her mother's beautiful Louisburg Square mansion is frequently the scene of Viennese waltzing parties during the winter months, for Mr. and Mrs. Welch head a small group of Bostonians who are determined that waltzing will not become a lost art.

Mr. Winsor who, through his mother, the former Orra Dow, is descended from General Neil Dow, of Portland, Maine, attended the Huntington School before entering M. I. T., and received his aviation training at Pensacola, Florida.

Sub-Debs Smile

Trio Has Taken Very Keen Interest In Parties of Season

READY TO "COME OUT"—This trio of sub-debs has a pretty fair idea of what will be expected of them when they are grown up enough to "come out," for this season they have attended a number of their big sisters' parties and watched the social butterflies at first hand. Ann "Randy" Withington, left, attended a recent debutante party with her friends, Libby Rice, center, and Lois Brewster, right, both of Plymouth. "Randy" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lothrop Withington, of Brookline and Plymouth.

Shearons Off On Honeymoon

Motoring through the White Mountains are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shearon, whose wedding took place the holiday morning in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton.

Mrs. Shearon is the former Eileen Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Francis Rogers and a prominent member of the Regis College and Mt. St. Joseph's Academy alumnae. For her Independence Day nuptials she wore a sleek silk jersey gown fashioned on empire lines. Her veil of tulle fell from a close-fitting coronet of the same material. She carried a white prayer book trimmed with orchids and lilies of the valley.

Serving as her attendants were her sister Molly, now Mrs. John F. Maloney, as matron of honor, and Anne Constance Rogers, who served as her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. Maloney's powder blue chiffon was topped by a leghorn hat. Her bouquet was made of yellow roses and larkspur.

The maid of honor's yellow net gown was sashed in black velvet, cornflowers fashioning her headdress. Her bouquet of garden flowers blended with her ensemble.

Robert E. Shearon, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was his brother's best man. Ushering was directed by Robert Lally and Hugh Barnes Rogers, brother of the bride.

Stock Cellar Shelves With Preserves

FROM MARTHA LEE'S WEDNESDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WMEX—11:30 A. M.

When the week end guests have departed and the household is again running smoothly, we turn to the canning.

It is time for canning and nothing gives a woman more satisfaction than to view well-filled shelves of jams, jellies and vegetables that have been put up by her own hands.

We had occasion to view one such cellar last week and began to get all excited about our own winter supply. This particularly as planning of the garden vegetables that are to be used for the table.

We saw rows of strawberries, cherries and the season's best in fact every thing that has appeared this season.

There are [illegible] strawberries to be taken care of so we [illegible] tion of this fruit [illegible] the raspberries and [illegible] will follow [illegible]

Measure sugar and [illegible] water for [illegible] and juice [illegible] mix well [illegible] ing. Boil hard [illegible] for [illegible] Turn [illegible] For [illegible] to prevent [illegible] quick. Paraffin [illegible] Makes [illegible] 7 oz. [illegible]

RIPE SOUR CHERRY JELLY

[illegible]

To prepare [illegible] pan and place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At [illegible] of [illegible] minute, add [illegible] a full rolling boil and boil [illegible] minute. Remove from fire, skim [illegible] quick. Paraffin hot [illegible] at once. Makes about 7 glasses [illegible] ounces each.

• • •

If you have more greens in the garden than can be used by the family, why not store the surplus for winter supply. Spread chard, beet tops, dandelions, turnip greens, or kale one may be preferred by the same method.

TO CAN TENDER BEETS

Small beets should be canned whole. In preparing leave on an inch of the stem and all of the tap, when blanching. This is to prevent bleeding (loss of color). Wash thoroughly. Blanch in boiling water until skins loosen, then cool and dip for a few seconds in cold water. Pack in jars and add one teaspoon of salt to each quart. Fill with boiling water, wipe off sealing surface of jar, put on rubber and cover, partly seal and process for two hours in water bath or 45 minutes in pressure cooker at 10 pounds. YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

5-Purpose Sachet Cologne Is Vacation Days "Must"

By ARLINE GOULD

VACATION BAGGAGE cluttered up with angular boxes and bottles . . . all in the interests of better beauty for bigger conquests . . . is our idea of nothing at all, and you probably think the same way. Yet certainly there never is a time during the whole year when you take a more passionate interest in your own qualifications for loveliness . . . therefore you won't move without a positively miraculous five-purpose sachet cologne tucked into the softest corner of your bag.

It will remake you into a positively [illegible] person . . . [illegible] seemed like something out of a dream . . . cool and dainty every moment of the day and night.

In the [illegible] its very appearance is different from anything you might have experienced before. Handsome Plays Brilliant Game

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Summer hit New York, locking the city of steel and brick and concrete in a relentless grip which winter never quite achieves.

But for Mike the trying days were turned into magic. When he was in town sometimes he would rent a car, and they'd go for a ride on Long Island, eat in some quiet place by the sea. And Mike knew perfect happiness for the first time in her life.

In August, Handsome was depressed. His record on the road was not what the club had expected. But Handsome could not seem to snap out of his lethargy.

"Am I a disappointment to you, Mike?" he asked one night shortly before Labor Day.

They were sitting in a small restaurant 15 miles from the city. The heat seemed far away and forgotten.

"A disappointment? Larry, you're wonderful!" She could not help saying it.

"I'd give up if it weren't for you, Skipper."

You're just tired, the girl contented.

But I can't come to get you again. The road trip was pretty bad. The team had lost nine boys from its eastern swing.

I keep telling Ace you should come along with me. I'm so proud if you aren't there.

Mike was bad for Handsome's face. "Larry, all the ... matters. I've been meaning to for a long time. I love you. Lately better than anything in this world. I don't want you to feel free. You can't feel dependent on me. It won't be fair to you. Whether I'm with my team or not it doesn't matter to me. You know that."

Her heart leaped up, started. "Don't you want to be necessary to me?"

MIKE'S PLEDGE

Mike's eyes were dark with sudden feeling. "I want to be necessary to you for happiness all my life." She paused a moment. "But this is something different. You've got to prove to yourself you can stand on your own two feet. You don't need me or anybody else. Larry. Well, you know. He says that's true."

Mike put her arm around him. Her red hair was a flame against his white face.

Wish was one day to be going to be the greatest ball player the team ever had. You have every faith.

Handsome shrugged his head wearily, leaned over and patted the hand which was his diamond.

"Something I've never told you before. You remember the night we met? I was just about ready to give the whole thing up. I was asked [illegible] that night."

He lit a cigarette and Mike was glad to see his hands shook. "A woman. Your mother. I never told you about her."

Later when he drove Mike back to town they stopped for a long time where the road met the sea. It was quiet. The waves lapped gently at the sand. They seemed them.

"Don't we be married before the season is over?" Handsome asked. "I tell you it's the only thing to do. I hate the road trips, trains, hotels, noise, dirt. If you were along, I wouldn't mind."

"I can't walk out on things at home. You know how bad that is."

"We could manage."

"We couldn't. You haven't the vaguest idea about money, Larry. You've always had it, or knew where you could get it.

"You don't know anything about scrimping and saving. You don't know what it means to shop in the cheapest stores, cook the cheapest cuts of meat."

He kissed her suddenly: "I could eat hamburger."

"You, who love three inch steaks! And you should have them! No, Larry. It won't work. If you get into the series then maybe we could manage a while. I don't want much but you couldn't stand real poverty. You'd hate that. I know.

WAS SHE RIGHT?

As he sat there waiting [illegible] Mike wondered if she was right. If she had not been, if Handsome was would have gone [illegible] ... and she felt tired down enough for her future.

She had made up her mind before Handsome arrived that things must change. She had had to [illegible] her time's worth.

But there was no use thinking [illegible]

"What has made you so depressed tonight? You aren't yourself."

Handsome did not answer for a moment. Ace had not even the cause to [illegible] that evening. He waited for his [illegible] waiting.

Are you? Mike's coffee cup the edge of her saucer.

Handsome tipped her soft chin so that he could kiss the [illegible] don't mean much before he answered.

Of course. I'm not sure. I told Ace I couldn't do anything when you weren't there. That was I've always told him.

Handsome grinned. "I thought he was [illegible] some reason of that."

But you aren't sure. You're keeping on them. You're working.

He always starts me at the wrong time. It's when I don't [illegible]

Why don't you tell him that?

Every time I [illegible] that day I feel one [illegible] that day [illegible] because you didn't. I wouldn't tell Ace that. And come [illegible] Hell [illegible]

Mike was worried about [illegible] Something was wrong there was [illegible]

Now do you [illegible] I'll [illegible] tomorrow. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Rogers Hornsby Finds Haven of Free Speech

AFTER A PAYLESS PERIOD SINCE BEING fired as manager of the St. Louis Browns, Rogers Hornsby has landed upright in sympathetic surroundings. Mr. Joe Engel, a man of streamlined ideas, has hired Rogers to manage his Chattanooga baseball club. Mr. Engel hangs caged canaries under his grandstand eaves, has swing-musicians blowing sweet blurts between the innings, employs female usherettes, picked for pulchritude to flash glimpses of girlish leg meat in the aisles, and gives away weekly automobiles to lucky ticket holders.

AUSTEN LAKE

Mr. Engel is a liberal. So, though Hornsby was chucked out of the major leagues for wagering on the hazy likelihood of the horses' legs, he has Mr. Engel's permission to gamble in the horse parlors, or the games of the little freckled dice cubes or the various wheels of chance which strangers discover in Chattanooga at the cost of some sleep and much remorse. Hornsby is in Utopia.

Still more important, Mr. Engel has invited Hornsby to speak [illegible] of baseball. Hornsby has accepted [illegible] remarks [illegible] Mr. Engel has [illegible] for such [illegible]

SO THE SCORE OF BUSTED BEEZERS AND sulphurous prolixities will soon be coming over the wires. It is inevitable. For I have never encountered anybody in baseball so boldly presumptuous in matters which are none of his business, or anyone with such a penchant for telling awkward truths. Though he has taken his share of domestic and business bumps, Rogers remains an aggressive tongue-thrower who never hesitates to say in blunt Saxon-English how punk a rival manager is or how an owner nurses his nickels.

There have been many theories among the ball people as to why Rogers stirs up animosities which could be easily ducked by tactful silence. Some say he has an automatic larynx which operates independently of his brain. Such things as calling Eddie Collins and our Red Sox "antiquated stumblebums" or pontificating on Dizzy Dean's lame shoulder as a "natural spread of paralysis from Dis's brain." For Hornsby scorns the routine diplomacies which polite people cherish. His reason censors nothing that flies 'twixt brain and tongue. He has no parlor gloss. His speech is larded with blackjack blunt-

[illegible] I have always loved [illegible] from a queer truth [illegible] and [illegible] to a grandstand [illegible] and one wonders whether the department of his mind which generates the normal impulses for [illegible] the decorous called Tact, or in whose the gentle art of [illegible] might not have been atrophied during youthful development. Hornsby never outgrew his childish conception of raw naked truth.

▼ ▼ ▼

SCIENCE EXPLAINS THE "PATHOLOGICAL LIAR" as one who cuts the truth into paper doll shapes for the sake of improving on the dull tedium of honest fact. To the "pathological liar" then, falsehood is a colorful pigment with which to brighten the plain, monotones of truth. A proportion of sport writers are pathological liars. But in the more advanced cases science traces the lying-mania to failure in the victim's internal chemistry, a stoppage in the glands or a hitch in the mental machinery.

So [illegible] of the human juices or a cerebral flaw, why not [illegible] some acute example of the essential fluids cause a [illegible] mania and a pathological passion for honesty like Hornsby's.

The great Master of Natural Experience never taught Rogers that Truth is a potent [illegible] in the human salad. The world feeds [illegible] truth unpalatable. Thus Rogers was an [illegible] with the [illegible] in Boston, Chicago and St. Louis. He branded them as [illegible] and [illegible] sometimes [illegible] their heads against the [illegible] partitions. The athletes resented being [illegible] and took to slurring their work and hence became even more conspicuous busts.

SO I THINK I CAN PREDICT HORNSBY'S ultimate end in Chattanooga by telling you what caused his plug to be pulled in the major leagues. First he had Rickey-trouble in St. Louis when he had salary dispute in 1926 and branded his boss as niggardly, pinchpenny and tight. So he was sent to the Giants where McGraw was getting hard-arteries and lay pretty sick and pernickety. So John gave Rogers the club for a swing around the West and presently was reading how Hornsby blamed the team's failure on the McGraw penal system of locking his men in their cells at night and simultaneously demanding and rebuking their initiative by running all the details of the game from his cave. So McGraw cured himself in a hurry and shipped Hornsby to Boston.

That was a [illegible] of backstairs [illegible] player [illegible] and upset [illegible] Hornsby resigned the players and they [illegible] from [illegible] So he went to the Cubs, where he exercised [illegible] as a free agency to gamble on the bootleg horse stables. So they fired him to the Browns in '37 where he was fired all over again for the same sin. He never denied that he gambled during his drunkhead court martials by Judge Landis merely insisting that the money he earned was [illegible] to save or throw away on any kind of [illegible] he wished.

So now we [illegible] free speech and behavior, Chattanooga, where a man can squander his pay on a wide variety of frivolity. But the Chattanooga [illegible] have never heard free and [illegible] language until they hear Rogers unleash his [illegible] and fine a few salvos of verbal shrapnel. The [illegible] maimed and dying ought to be coming in any time now.

By JACK CONWAY

JACK LEARY, professional at The Scituate Country Club, says that the large entry list and enthusiastic galleries at recent golf tournaments are due to the fact the business future once more looks cheerful to the American people.

Mr. Boston

"I can stand at the first tee at the Scituate Country Club and tell how the market is going by watching the drives of our members," said Leary laughingly. "The sale of golf equipment at a pro's shop also gives one a good line on business conditions.

"During the past month golfers have had a bright outlook on the economic future, and I think this has helped their golf scores.

"We are going to stage our open tournament on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Judging from advance interest in the affair we should have a fine entry list, and some excellent scores.

"Be sure and tell Bill Grimes I shall be looking for him to drop in on us during the week-end. I promise him a top tournament."

I played at the Scituate Country Club over the holiday, and found the greens and fairways in excellent condition. From some of the greens you can look out and see the Atlantic ocean which may be some consolation to a golfer who comes up with a bad score.

Eddie Hurley Was a Real Reporter

TEACHERS of journalism could well tell their students a few facts about the career of Eddie Hurley, sports columnist of the Daily Record who is dead at his home in Somerville.

Eddie Hurley reached a high spot in the newspaper world because above everything else he was a great reporter. I have always measured newspapermen by their ability as reporters. The late Arthur Brisbane, who received the enormous salary of $250,000 writing for the Hearst newspapers, prided himself on the fact he was a first class reporter more than he did on his ability to write editorials better than anybody else.

A great reporter is one who can gather all of the news concerning an important story to the smallest detail. What appears as a mere detail in a story today may develop into the most important part of the story tomorrow.

Eddie Hurley was an expert in getting all of the news, and then presenting it to his readers clearly and in an intelligent style. He never permitted his personal opinions to prevent him from giving the full account of a sports event exactly as it happened.

I used to like to read Eddie Hurley's column in the Daily Record. He took me with him in his column to the race track, ball game, boxing bout and other sports events. Eddie knew a great many people of importance in athletics, and he introduced his readers to them.

Few writers had as thorough knowledge of so many branches of sports as Eddie Hurley. He gained this information by hard work and by building up friendly contacts.

The Making of a Newspaper

EDDIE HURLEY was one of those persons who helped make a great newspaper each day. The day Eddie died Johnny Noonan, Executive City Editor of the Boston Evening American, paid a fine tribute to him as a newspaperman when he said he was a "production man."

During his busy day Eddie Hurley found time to write a sports column [illegible] the races at Suffolk Downs, and also write the story of the day's races. The task of handicapping also necessitates the keeping of an elaborate card index system of the records and [illegible] records.

Teachers [illegible] could tell their students of how [illegible] newspapermen, including Eddie Hurley, work. They have reached the top by doing their work with the same thoroughness that a doctor shows [illegible] a series of operations or a trial lawyer displays in the [illegible] of important cases.

I have never cared for the way the movies have pictured newspaper reporters. From the movie version of a reporter's life one would think a newspaperman's lot was one gay party after another, and meetings with all kinds of celebrities under pleasant surroundings.

True, newspapermen do meet numerous celebrities, but they often do not impress them any more than a mason is thrilled by the stones he is placing into position on a new building.

I also liked Eddie Hurley's fairness in his writings. He had such a thorough knowledge of sports it was easy for him to understand why things always didn't go as planned.

When a good newspaperman or a good doctor or a good lawyer or a good business man dies, I always feel that the entire community has suffered a personal loss. Trying to do good in anything is certain to help others if only by a fine example.

I think Bob Quinn had this thought in mind when he wired from Cincinnati as follows:

Although he has denied that he ever received an offer to manage a big league club . . . Babe Ruth could have had the Detroit Tigers before the late Frank Navin purchased Mickie Cochrane from Connie Mack . . . Babe was too interested in a trip to Japan and passed up the chance . . . Gen. Reach, Longmeadow did not enter the state amateur championship as was expected . . . He is one of the finest golfers in New England and would have been the ranking favorite . . . Wm. Green, Red Sox trainer, is treating Johnny Orlando for rheumatism.

Jack Kenney, former Dartmouth quarterback, is coaching freshman football at Georgetown, where he is studying law . . . The M. G. A. should let every entry in a state championship play by the rules of golf . . . It's really shocking to listen to some of the weird interpretations . . . The Cubs have realized long since that the $185- Rip Collins (un) paid for Dizzy Dean was not the worst deal they've made . . . The trade that sent Lorne Warneke to St. Louis for "Ripper" Collins takes precedent over the Dean bone . . . The Cubs could use Warneke to advantage, and Collins as a flop . . . Suffolk Downs didn't register favorably with the worthwhile horse owners by offering a $1200 feature race on the holiday. GRIMES

38 Clubs In Onset Regatta

The Massachusetts Bay Yacht Clubs Association, composed of 38 yacht clubs between Hull and Beverly, will cruise to Onset at the invitation of the Onset Bay Chamber of Commerce on Friday, July 8th, for a week's outing.

Emil Loeb, secretary of the Chamber, will welcome the yachtsmen with red flares set around the harbor, and he has arranged an interesting program of entertainment.

On Saturday afternoon, after bathing on the beach, the pirates from the Savin Hill Yacht Club will land to lead a parade of yachtsmen in bizarre costumes through the principal streets. Following the parade will be a band concert and fireworks exhibition.

TENDER RACES

On Sunday, the tender race will be held in the morning with band concerts in the afternoon and evening.

Rear Admiral Frank C. Hendry is chairman of the committee of the association, assisted by Harry Bernstein of Dorchester, Frank Sharkey of Jeffreys, Ken Whorf of Wessagusset, Frank Cook of Salem Willows and Ed Twyman of Savin Hill.

Smith Has 65 At P. G. A. Site

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., July 6 (INS)—Horton Smith, playing for the first time over the Shawnee Country Club course, where the National P. G. A. tourney starts Sunday, broke the course record by carding 34—31—65, seven under par.

The former mark was set by Ed Dudley when he scored a 66 in the Shawnee open in 1936.

Pelican Manager Sours on Cleveland Indians

Series Cause Shift of Colgate-Duke Game to Buffalo

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The Giants and Yanks aren't accepting reservations for a subway World Series, but Colgate football officials have shifted the Colgate-Duke game scheduled October 8 from the Yankee Stadium to Buffalo just in case.

Because Larry Gilbert, manager of the last-place New Orleans Pelicans in the Southern Association, didn't get expected help from the Cleveland Indians, he may sell his star twirler, Russell (Red) Evans, to the Giants, who already have sent four players to New Orleans.

In a game between Detroit and Philadelphia the other day, no less than five former Duke University stars were in the Athletics' lineup . . They were Bill Werber, at third; Ace Parker, the well-known footballer, at second; Wayne Ambler, at short; Chubby Dean, pinch-hitter de luxe, and Pitcher Dave Smith.

Here's the way the Southwest Conference football race shapes up in the summer books: Rice will be as strong as last year . . . Texas Christian again will have the best line in the league and is counted the No. 1 team to upset Rice . . . Texas A. and M. has a flock of nifty freshmen coming up . . .

Southern Methodist figures to be tough, with one of its best frosh teams in history ready to go . . . Texas U. will have a stouter line and better-balanced backfield . . .

Baylor lost too many stars by graduation . . . Arkansas can't be counted out, but they're going to miss those tall ends!"

The Dodgers haven't beat the Giants all season . . . Having licked everything in sight and claiming the Southern championship, the Palm Beach (Fla.) high school team is raring to take on an Eastern opponent in a post-season baseball game . . . Ernie Quigley, umpire-in-chief for the National League, will be the professor when City College of New York launches a course in football, baseball and basketball today.

How does that old Tony Galento look up there in the No. 1 spot for heavyweight challengers? . . . A flock of Southern baseball managers are talking themselves hoarse trying to get 17-year-old Willard Marshall, crack outfielder of a Richmond, Va., semi-pro nine, to say yes . . .

Tris Speaker who surely ought to know, says Vince DiMaggio of the Boston Bees is his idea of a center-fielder . . . Paul Goetowski, sophomore tackle at Nebraska, is a registered nurse and works in the college infirmary during the off season . . . We still like the American Leaguers today.

English Quit

To Marry Widow

CHICAGO, July 6 (INS)—The reason why Elwood "Woody" English suddenly packed up and left the Brooklyn Dodgers flat in New York last Saturday was explained today when he was found honeymooning here with the former Mrs. Isadene Scharf, 30-year-old widow.

The marriage is English's second. His first wife, the former Helen Colan, blonde Chicago model, divorced him last September after seven years of marriage. She charged desertion.

English, traded to Brooklyn from Chicago Cubs in 1936, refused to see reporters. It has been reported he will quit baseball rather than continue to warm the Dodger bench.

Baker Bowl Now Only A Memory

By WALTER KILEY

While Philadelphia baseball fans are rejoicing in the shift which sends the Phillies to Shibe Park, many colorful memories of the old Baker Bowl were summoned up during the Bees recent visit to the "City of Brotherly Love."

When the gates of Baker Bowl were first opened, back in 1887, some 51 years ago, the park was considered one of the eighth wonders of the world.

Folks travelled from all parts of the continent to see this baseball paradise. Today the Bowl is little changed in its North Philadelphia site. But its major league days are over.

STILL THE SAME

It was the first park to boast cantilever stands and seated an amazing total of 16,000 spectators. Those original stands are still in existence, battered by wear and tear, patched and rebuilt at frequent intervals.

Calamity often hung over the place, death and injuries haunting it.

The stands broke down in 1853, with the loss of 12 lives and with several hundred wounded. They collapsed again in 1930, this time one dying and with 39 injured.

The Phils won but one pennant there in all those years, that in 1915 when Grover Cleveland Alexander pitched them to the National League pennant with 31 wins and seven defeats. But the Red Sox beat them in the World Series.

GIANTS DRESS IN HOTEL

The park has long been considered a joke with its short right field fence, over which pop flies sailed for homers; its wooden stands, its dirt and grime.

An antiquated clubhouse stood in left field, the last word in discomfort. There was no heating, bad lighting. It was damp and unhealthy.

Don Irwin Balks At Redskin Offer

UTICA, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—Don Irwin, former star Colgate University fullback, said today he would send back, unsigned, his contract received from the Washington Redskins, world's professional football champions. Irwin said the salary increase offered him was "not large enough."

Reputedly one of the 10 highest paid pro stars last year, Irwin said the approaching season would probably be his last. He said the Redskins were ordered to report to Washington August 10 for training.

Hospitalize Dunn For Eye Infection

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (INS)—Jack Dunn, former Olympic games skating star and now a film actor, was confined to a hospital today suffering from a serious eye infection.

Dunn's eyes became infected when cigaret ashes blew into them while he was driving his car a week ago.

Helens Invited To Play on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6 (INS)—Mrs. Helen Moody, once again the queen of the world's tennis courts, and her celebrated opponent, Helen Hull Jacobs, have been invited by officials of the Golden Gate International Exposition to renew their rivalry in a singles match next February at Treasure Island, site of the exposition.

Newton 'Y' Holds Meet July 23rd

The fifth annual open track meet, conducted by the Newton Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the N. E. A. A. U., will be held on Saturday, July 23, at the Newton Y. M. C. A. track.

The events this year include the shotput, running broad jump and high jump; 100, 440 and 880-yard events; three-mile run, one-mile walk, and the athletic committee is offering a special trophy for the mile run.

They'll Do It Every Time—Hatlo

I THINK I BETTER WRITE ALL OUR FRIENDS AT HOME TODAY. SHALL I INVITE ANY OF THEM TO THE CABIN?
SURE! INVITE THEM ALL. WE'RE SO FAR AWAY NONE OF THEM WOULD TRY TO GET HERE - AND THEY'D NEVER FIND THE PLACE IF THEY DID.
THREE DAYS LATER—THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

BEST BET—BUCK TRAWLER—TENTH RACE

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY

First Half Daily Double

SWEET LOU, IDLE MONEY, MUZZIE

3	Sweet Lou	56½	W. L. Bryant	3-1
4	Idle Money	60	Ben Neal, Jr.	4-1
1	Muzzie	54½	Art Wilson	5-1
7	Kilcarry Wr'ker	58	M. J. Gavan	5-1
3	Speedy Lad	56	E. Rhine	6-1
6	Plain Chord	63	Dan Sullivan	6-1
5	Joe Lark	63	K. Stephenson	8-1
8	Tex. Sidewinder	60	M. T. Dubiel	8-1

SWEET LOU was unfortunate in her last and with any sort of luck, figures best here, though IDLE MONEY and MUZZIE have plenty of speed in their own right.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY

Second Half Daily Double

RED SHAMROCK, FRISKY GLEN, COME ON DICK

4	Red Shamrock	62	F. Palermo	3-1
1	Frisky Glen	63	Frank Lane	4-1
6	Come On Dick	65	Art Wilson	5-1
3	Just Vera	49	Ben Neal, Jr.	5-1
2	Beaded Wings	58	Dan Sullivan	6-1
5	Portico	54	M. J. Gavan	6-1
8	Muzzy	73	Tom Baird	8-1
7	Stage Struck	63	G. Lippold, Jr.	8-1

RED SHAMROCK rates the call over this ordinary band but by no wide margin, for both FRISKY GLEN and COME ON DICK have been showing improvement.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE

HAWKE'S CHOICE, ROSALEE MOORE, TARZAN BREEZE

1	Hawke's Choice	65	K. Stephenson	3-1
2	Rosalee Moore	58	Houser Bagwell	4-1
3	Tarzan Breeze	69	F. Palermo	5-1
6	Spate	68	J. L. Ayotte	5-1
7	Alarm	64	Dan Sullivan	6-1
5	Kneader	58	M. J. Gavan	6-1
8	White Tempest	67½	O. Dahlberg	8-1
4	Tavern's Host's	51	O. R. Wehlauf	8-1

With the red blanket aboard HAWKE'S CHOICE would seem much the best here, though ROSALEE MOORE has enough dash to make it interesting. TARZAN BREEZE should be in the money.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY

FLEET WAY, ROUNDABOUT, LADY ZONA

5	Fleet Way	71	M. J. Gavan	3-1
6	Roundabout	63	Cedar Pt. Ken.	4-1
7	Lady Zona	57	O. & B. Kennel	5-1
3	March Fast	65	Pat Conway	5-1
1	Medulla	70	K. Stephenson	6-1
8	Snore Down	54	F. L. Brunis	6-1
4	Patrol Escort	66	M. T. Dubiel	8-1
2	Jackie Nell	55	A. L. Smart	8-1

FLEET WAY moves up somewhat, but seems a sure winner here, thanks to early speed and staying power. ROUNDABOUT should force most of the running, with LADY ZONA entitled to consideration.

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE

DREAMY EYES, CAP HARE, BEN LARK

1	Dreamy Eyes	63	F. B. Stutz	3-1
4	Cap Hare	59	Forbe Spencer	4-1
2	Ben Lark	68	K. Stephenson	5-1
7	Iora	56	F. Boone	5-1
5	Carhan's Exp.	65	W. B. Hall	6-1
7	Patsy Red	56	F. L. Brunis	6-1
6	Glenna Girl	55	J. L. Ayotte	8-1
8	Irvin Andrew	61	M. T. Dubiel	8-1

On the inside, DREAMY EYES seems to hold a strong hand and should get home on top. CAP HARE should run better from this posting, with BEN CLARK always dangerous.

SIXTH RACE—FUTURITY

MISS BAILEY, DICTATOR JOHN, LILAC

6	Miss Bailey	58	O. & B. Kennel	3-1
1	Dictator John	63	Dan Sullivan	4-1
7	Lilac	55	A. L. Smart	5-1
3	Irish Glen	54	Frank Lane	5-1
5	Two Tone	64	F. Boone	6-1
2	Miltz Andrew	68	Pat Conway	6-1
6	Jack Kro Kan	64	Forbe Spencer	8-1
8	The Tangler	68	M. J. Gavan	8-1

This Murdaunt pup has plenty of dash and figures to head DICTATOR JOHN to the first turn. LILAC will be forcing them, and the race to the wire should be close.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE

ANDREW'S HOPE, JUST CHINITA, ROMONA BREEZE

3	Andrew's Hope	58	O. & B. Kennel	3-1
6	Just Chinita	83½	W. L. Bryant	4-1
7	Romona Breeze	60	G. Lippold, Jr.	5-1
5	Marge Clarke	56	M. T. Dubiel	5-1
2	Toy Traffic	47	Frank Lane	6-1
8	Mister Andrew	64	Cedar Pt. Ken.	6-1
1	Silver Darling	57	J. L. Ayotte	8-1
4	Daily Rail	62	F. B. Stutz	8-1

ANDREW'S HOPE just missed from an outside box last trip and, with any sort of luck, should score here. JUST CHINITA will be driving with ROMONA BREEZE always dangerous.

EIGHTH RACE—FUTURITY

TRAFFIC GLEN, LADY BLONDELL, SO LUCKY

1	Traffic Glen	54	Frank Lane	3-1
6	Lady Blondell	60	M. C. Sparks	4-1
3	So Lucky	50	Ben Neal, Jr.	5-1
4	Smartbead	62	W. B. Hall	5-1
5	Another Ben	59	Fred Street	6-1
5	Courageous Cu's	70	C. A. Rhodes	6-1
7	Flight Leader	64	O. R. Wehlauf	6-1
8	Stormy Breeze	73	G. Lippold, Jr.	8-1

The top one here won 17 in Florida and seems to have regained its form. A repeat of its last should result, with LADY BLONDELL the one to fear. SO LUCKY should get some of the money.

NINTH RACE—FUTURITY

PASS DOWN, COMRADE CARESS, TORMENTED

1	Pass Down	51	F. L. Brunis	3-1
3	Comrade Carress	46½	C. A. Rhodes	4-1
7	Tormented	55½	M. Kirkpa'k	5-1
9	Rural Crier	70	M. C. Sparks	5-1
4	Rural Lady	67	Art Wilson	6-1
8	Silver Lane	55	G. Lippold, Jr.	6-1
7	Understudy	68	O. Dahlberg	8-1
8	Mutton Broth	66	J. L. Ayotte	8-1

PASS DOWN should repeat his last, thanks to its fast breaking proclivities, though COMRADE CARESS will race with it to the first turn and might upset. TORMENTED rates a money call.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE

BUCK TRAWLER, CAMERON COUNTESS, BLUE COUNT

3	Buck Trawler	58½	Pat Conway	3-1
1	Cameron Count's	52	Hubert Bryant	4-1
6	Blue Count	56	W. B. Hall	5-1
5	Clerk	62	Forbe Spencer	6-1
5	Smash'g Forbes	63	K. Stephenson	6-1
4	Stage Love	54	G. Lippold, Jr.	6-1
2	Classy Traffic	54	F. L. Brunis	8-1
7	Another Chord	70	Fred Street	8-1

BUCK TRAWLER'S recent schooling, following a good Saturday, makes it seem much the best here, with CAMERON COUNTESS the one to fear. BLUE COUNT rates a money call.

Kearns' Ban May Spread

CHICAGO, July 6 (INS)—Possibility that suspensions imposed by the Illinois State Athletic Commissions on Promoter Jack Kearns and six other principals in the recent Jimmy Adamick-Jack Trammel boxing fiasco here might bar all seven from any United States ring affairs was considered by fight experts today.

The fight, in which Trammel nose-dived from a vicious punch, was declared "no contest" and the principals barred or suspended for from one to five years by the state commission.

Involved besides Kearns were Adamick, suspended for one year; Trammell, five years; James Buchanan, manager of Trammell, five years; Jimmy Brady, pilot of Adamick, five years, and Tommy Walsh, Kearns' co-promoter in Detroit, five years.

Jerry Lavan, promoter, had his promoting license revoked. Kearns, now promoting in Detroit, who has the booking rights for all of Adamick's bouts outside that city, was barred from participation in wrestling and boxing in Illois for five years.

It was believed the New York, California and Missouri boxing commissions may take identical action, as these states have working agreements. Other states in the National Boxing Association, of which Illinois is a member, are committed to reciprocal action.

The Illinois board's sensational indictment of Kearns marked another chapter in the ring career of the man who piloted hir self to a $2,000,000 fortune as manager of former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, but dropped it in later ventures and has since been trying to build up another "Manassa Mauler."

STITT PULLS THROUGH

WATERBURY, Ct., July 6 (AP)—Top-seeded Albert Stitt of Brookline, Mass., narrowly escaped defeat in the opening round of the ninth annual Naugatuck Valley tennis tournament, but finally pulled his match against Jimmy Kane of Stratford out of the fire, 5—7, 6—2, 10—8.

Scholastic Wallop for Ring Game

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Lieut. J. A. Millspaugh of the naval medical corps has dealt the boxing business a scholastic wallop with a brand new treatise on punch drunkenness.

Punch drunkenness isn't a condition you get into from drinking punch, but a condition you get into from absorbing too many punches. Writing in the Naval Medical Bulletin, Lieut. Millspaugh proposes a new name for it—dementia pugilistica.

That's all right, Lieutenant, but you gave the boxing trade a verbal knockout with this punchy paragraph:

"Patently the etiology of dementia pugilistica is trauma."

After the budding heavyweight has waded through that bit of business on what might happen to him if he gets too much, the Lieutenant lashes out with:

"The metacarpophalangeal articulations are usually repertrophied."

Socko!!

If that doesn't frighten him into a neutral corner of his living room, how about some of the things the lieutenant says are symptoms of dementia pugilistica?

"Scowling, snorting, blowing, grimacing, crouching and squarring off," he writes, "are commonly witnessed."

Finally, if the fighter wants to know the medical analysis of what happens to him when he comes to after being knocked out, he can get it toward the end of the treatise.

Germaine Faces Chang at Arena

Wild Bill Dolan, popular Dedham referee, states everything will go at the Arena tonight when Lee Chang, Chinese grappler, meets Ted Germaine of South Boston.

In addition to this feature bout, in which the light heavyweight title will be at stake, there will be a De Luxe battle royal among four men.

Horses in Action

POLO PONIES seem to lose themselves as their riders duel for the ball in the first game of the International polo series which is being played in Chicago. William Gergus, No. 3, of the 124th Field Artillery, is shown about to let drive at the ball as he outrides Manuel Larrudia of the Cuban Army team. The Artillery beat the Cubans, 11 to 4.

GREYHOUND, holder of the world's trotting championship at 1 minute 56 seconds, pictured as he flashed over the finish line in the second heat of the free-for-all trot at the North Randall course, Cleveland. Driven by Sep Palin, Greyhound flashed to a new world's record of 26 4-5 seconds for the last quarter.

Odds Shift On Yankees

NEW YORK, July 5 (INS)—The New York Yankees, baseball world champions, today were announced as 7 to 10 odds to repeat in the American League by the veteran Broadway betting pricemaker Jack Doyle.

The New York Giants are pegged at even money to grab the pennant again in the National League. Doyle warned that the closeness of the race makes the mid-season odds subject to rapid change.

In the junior loop, Cleveland is 2 to 1 for the flag, 1 to 4 for second, while the Yanks are 1 to 5 for second. No odds are quoted on the Indians or the Yanks for third.

The Boston Red Sox are 4 to 1 for first, 7 to 5 for second and 2 to 5 for third. First place odds on the Detroit Tigers are 5 to 1. Mickey Cochrane's team is 8 to 5 for second and 2 to 5 for third.

Ferry Hits Steamer, 80 Shaken

Eighty passengers were shaken up on the ferryboat Dartmouth, today, when it collided with the stern of the Nantasket steamer Nantasket at Rowe's wharf.

The Nantasket was tied up at its dock beside the ferry slip, with about a score of early passengers just going aboard.

The Dartmouth was leaving its slip, bound for East Boston.

The collision bent inward several yards of the Dartmouth's rail. Passengers fled to the other side of the ferryboat, seeking places of safety. No one was hurt.

Damage to the Nantasket was negligible, officials of the steamboat line said.

Fearing Tonsil Operation, Boy Hangs Himself

NORWALK, Ct., July 6 (INS)—Fear of having his tonsils removed today at Norwalk Hospital was believed responsible for the death of James Thayer, Jr., 14, of Providence, R. I., whose body was found hanging from a bar of his bed at the summer cottage of his family at Wilson Point.

The victim was the son of James Thayer, Sr., headmaster of the Moses Brown School in Providence.

EXCLUSIVE

Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, national commander of the American Legion, is the choice of Attorney General Paul A. Dever for the post of first assistant attorney general, it was learned today by George Holland, Boston Evening American columnist.

An authoritative source stated that the Legion head will be named to the position made vacant with the elevation of James J. Ronan to an associate justiceship on the State Supreme Court bench.

Doherty, well known lawyer, formerly was assistant district attorney of Middlesex County in which he handled a number of major prosecutions.

During the last eight months Doherty has toured the nation in behalf of veterans. their legislation and solidarity. His term as commander ends in a few months.

During the war, he served in the Navy. Afterwards he enrolled at Suffolk Law School and was graduated from that school in 1922 passing the bar at once.

His rise in the Legion was rapid. He was honor commander of his own post in Woburn in 1929. Two years later, he had held several posts in Middlesex County Council and at Miami in 1935 was chosen national vice-commander. He was elected to his present post last September at the national convention in New York.

Commander Doherty is married to the former Mary Elizabeth Linehan of Manchester, N. H., whom he wed in 1915.

Death Ends Couple's Golden Joy

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 6—"Happiest man in New England," 79-year-old Edward Leckie called himself, when he and his wife left their home here to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary by a holiday trip through the White Mountains.

But Leckie was brought back home dead today, victim of a highway accident at Belmont, N. H.

And Mrs. Leckie, who returned with the body, said she believed she was the saddest woman in New England.

Leckie died in Laconia hospital, Laconia, N. H., of injuries suffered when he was knocked down by an automobile.

He was hit on Winnisquam bridge, Belmont, as he walked toward an overnight camp where he was staying with Mrs. Leckie and their two sons.

Leckie was a loomfixer in the Lorraine mills here. Funeral services for him will be conducted Friday from the family home in Power road.
